ANJC Sponsors “Road to Practice” Resource to Support the Next Generation of Chiropractors

Molalla, OR — Chiropractic Future is proud to announce that the Association of New Jersey Chiropractors (ANJC) is the official sponsor of its Road to Practice resource page, a comprehensive guide designed to support chiropractic students and early-career doctors as they transition from education into clinical practice.

The Road to Practice page serves as a centralized hub of information, offering guidance on key milestones such as licensure, professional readiness, workforce pathways, and engagement opportunities within the chiropractic profession. By sponsoring this resource, ANJC reinforces its commitment to advancing the profession and supporting chiropractors at every stage of their journey.

“ANJC’s sponsorship of the Road to Practice reflects their dedication to strengthening the chiropractic pipeline and investing in the future of the profession,” said Dr. Patel, Fundraising Working Group Chair at Chiropractic Future. “This partnership helps ensure that students and new doctors have access to timely, relevant resources as they prepare to enter practice.”

As a long-standing advocate for chiropractors and chiropractic education, ANJC continues to play a leadership role in fostering professional development, mentorship, and workforce sustainability. Their support enables Chiropractic Future to expand access to high-quality resources that empower emerging chiropractors nationwide.
